AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION

By W. S. BACKMAN Field Supervisor

Scientific knowledge and research can be of great assistance to farmers. When it is combined with practical experience and ability, farming enterprises can profit to a far greater extent than when they work independ-ently. Confidence and reliance on agricultural education is growing. The men and women who have had the advantage of agricutural education and are now on the land are improving the relationship between the men on the land and the agriculturist.

The Schools of Agriculture and the Universities have assisted many farmers' sons and daughters to add scientific knowledge to the practical experience they earned on the farm. Many have returned to the land and have applied their added knowledge to improve farming conditions both on the land and in the community in which they live. Some have become scientific and research workers in agriculture. Their background and interests make them especially valuable to the industry they serve.
In this district the influence of McPherson, Mr. William Milligan, Mr. Alf Peterson, Mr. Murray Johnson, Mr. Claud Webb, Mr. Don Litz and Mr. Henry J. Clarke, all active in Junior Club work, are graduates. In addition to using their knowledge on the land, they are encouraging farm boys and girls to get a better knowledge of agriculture. Mr. Henry Irwin, former Field Supervisor of the Agricultural Service Board in the Starland M.D., is a graduate of Olds and is now teaching in the new Agricultural School at Fairview. There are many others known to the readers of this paper.

Schools of Agriculture and Home Economics were first established in 1913. Since their inception an estimated 10,000 young men and women have taken the agricultural courses available. The majority of these are now farmers and homemakers. original objective was to give practical training.

Political Commissars?

Defence Minister Claxton's decision to set up a Bureau of Current Affairs to keep service men informed as to why they are fighting looks a bit like borrowing a leaf from Moscow's book. Political commissars have long been an important and not always popular part of Soviet military technique. What is suitable for a totalitarian army of illiterate conscripts may not be exactly what is needed for an entirely literate army of volunteers in a democracy.

It does little credit to the intelligence of the men of Canada's fighting forces to set up a Bureau of Current Affairs to tell them through official channels why they are fighting. Most of them already know. why they are in the armed services. That is

If the problem is rather one of keeping the men of Canada's fighting forces informed about what is happening at home, there is a simple and inexpensive method of doing so without setting up a Bureau of Information. Ottawa has too many such Bureaux now. All that needs to be done is to provide the service men with home town newspapers and periodicals that will keep them abreast of current affairs far better than any departmental bulletins and booklets, and without the few that invertible healths are received. the fear that invariably lurks in people's minds that official publications tend to be slanted.

Defence Minister Claxton's idea about keeping Canada's fighting forces informed on the issues of the day is sound. The method he has chosen to given effect to the scheme, however, is questionable indeed.

First Oil, Now Caviar

Caviar comes from a virgin sturgeon— Virgin sturgeon's a very fine fish . . . —Old barroom ballad.

The old song, though good, is partly inaccurate. Caviar is processed sturgeon eggs. But the sturgeon is indeed a very fine dish, and caviar is a very fine dish, and it ought to be a lot cheaper than it is.

Most people think caviar is exclusively a Russian product, from Russian sturgeons alone. But that isn't so. Some of the finest caviar in the world comes from Persian sturgeons, caught in the waters of the Caspian Sea off Iran.

For the last 24 years a Russian fishing company has had this concession, by contract with the Iranian government. Russia's caviar company is named Glavribispit—sounds impossible, but it's true—and it pays about $6 a pound for the sturgeon eggs, which later retail in West Europe and the United States for around $30.

All this is going to be changed before long, if Iran's present rulers stay in power and go through with plans they are now meditating. Their idea is that the Russians have been gypping them on the caviar contract since the beginning, and that they should refuse to renew it when it expires in October, 1952.

In that case, the Iranians would make and market their own caviar. Having grab-bed British Iranian oil ("nationalized" it, in the polite term), they think they will now repossess their sturgeons and sell the eggs under the proper label.

It sounds okay by us; and we surmise that the Iranians will have far less trouble rrocessing and selling caviar than oil.

We hope, though, that they'll democratically sell the stuff much cheaper than Russia ever did. It's good enough to rub in your hair if you have any hair.

Drop Dead!

To all you racing fans, who keep the George Speers organization wealthy:

If this tale doesn't make you stop betting on the nags, nothing ever will.

Seems that Julius Greenfield, chief photographer of the Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal, had five bucks he wanted to put on a horse. So he went to Jack Harris, engraving room foreman of the Journal and an expert on such matters, and asked for a quick tip.

Mr. Harris named his favorite and said, "The only thing that will keep this horse from winning would be if he dropped dead."

T. W. PUE

Julius thanked Mr. Harris and gave the five spot to another cameraman who was going to the races. When Lew Henderson, the other photographer, arrived at the track he put the money on the hot horse. Julius sat back and waited for the results.

We could put a 30 on this column right now and you'd never know what went on. But we won't.

This is what happened: The horse did drop dead on the track!

86,000,000 Copies

Does this figure surprise you? It's the number papers and periodicals copies bought annually by Canadians from United States publishers. We have a unique system of keeping liquor advertising out of papers and magazines published in Alberta. We would be sent straight to Fort Saskatchewan if we were to publish advertising extolling the questionable virtues of intoxicating beverages. But Alberta readers get all the advertising they can read in Liberty magazine, Time, Life and any United States newspaper you care to subscribe to. If it is unlawful to publish liquor advertising in an Alberta paper it should be unlawful to import outside papers which carry such advertising.

Most of these United States publications get their paper from Canada. Yet Canadian publishers, such as ourselves, can't get any assured supply. In the United States a publisher requiring newsprint can write to a government agency in Washington asking for a fair supply of paper. There is no government department in Canada with the authority to allocate paper, even in cases of distress.

"My country, 'tis of thee."

In case our readers think this is the only paper that gets the news balled up, here are some short takes from here and there:

Wedding described by the Cordydon (Ind.) Republican: "The mothers of the bride and bridegroom wore navy glue with white accessories."

Wedding described by the Stillwater (Okla.) News Press: "A wide satin ribbon tied with a bow in back with streamers extending to the floor, formed the bride's hash."

Story in the Syracuse (N.Y.) Herald-Journal: 'The GIs killed their girls goodnight."

Wedding described by the Los Angeles (Calif.) Mirror: "It was an old-fashioned nuptial with an altar of flowers built in one of the rooms. Blank's old side kicks were all built in one of the rooms. Blank's old side kicks were all lovely young girl."

Warning From Some Experts

(From New York News)

Speaking of the arms program, Truman's almost insane wastefulness, and related matters, we find ourselves unable to improve on the following language from the August issue of the National City Bank of New York's highly respected and brilliantly edited monthly business letter:

"While peace in Korea might bring some retardation of this pace of military buildup, with consequent lessening of inflationary pressures, there seems little doubt but that the American people are determined to go forward with at least the ity. greater part of this program. On this assumption even the gigantic resources of this country will have to be fully utilized as the program develops. "This is only another way of saying that the long-run prospect is for peak production, full employment, and massive purchasing power for consumers' goods and services.

"Despite the current price softening and buying slack which make the inflationary dangers presently seem less urgent, there is still danger that we shall try to do too much. We cannot safely undertake to carry the huge defense program, plus global foreign aid, while at the same time continuing to indulge in all sorts of extravagances, public and private, in other directions."

Chevrolet alone offers this complete Power Team!

POWER Glide Automatic Transmission

First...finest...and only fully proved automatic transmission in the low-price field. No clutch pedal—no gearshifting—not even a hint of gear changes in forward driving!

Extra-Powerful 105-h.p. Valve-in-Head Engine

Powerfild is coupled with the most powerful engine in the low-price field—Chevrolet's 105 h.p. Valve-in-Head Engine. It marks the highest development in Chevrolet's 39 years of concentration on Valve-in-Head design.

cconoMiser Rear Axle

Still another feature of this automatic power team is Chevrolet's Econo-Miser Rear Axle. Rear wheels travel farther at each engine revolution . . . fewer engine revolutions and less gas are required at highway speeds.

Oil Does H AIII

Oil replaces gears in the Power Glide Automatic Transmission. There's no direct mechanical connection between engine and rear axle. Result: A smooth, unbroken flow of power ... velve velocity at all engine speeds ... and finest no-shift driving at lowest cost!

Gene Autry In Edmonton Oct. 2

EDMONTON - The Edmonton Gardens will ring to the beating of hoofs and the songs of the old West on October 2, when the Gene Autry Show comes to Ed-

Complete with horses, singers and comedians the show will provide lovers of Western entertainment with two hours of thrills.

Gene is bringing to town with him on the tour Champion, his equine co-star and Little Champion, a trained colt.

Boys will provide the musical end ranching country.

H. Green, Gene's personal secretary, and Harry Kuh, advance publicity man for the show, were in Edmonton last week making arrangements for the 35 members of the troupe.

The shows arrives in Edmonton from Calgary, where they will put on a show on the 1st of October. From Edmonton they travel to Brandon, and thence to Winnipeg where they put on their last Western Canada show on the 6th of October.

From Western Canada, the show travels through the north-western U.S., and then plays in Eastern Canada, winding up the current tour in Montreal towards the end of October.

THE PROBLEM OF YOUR DAUGHTER'S DATES

Dear Girls:

Are you among the mothers who countenance everything the young folks do nowadays because they are afraid of daughter's popularity waning?

Mrs. Smith does not approve of Alice's two o'clock dates nor of the young men with whom she goes but she complains: "What can I do? If I put my foot down on such hours I'll soon have a wall flower on my hands and Alice says that she cannot discriminate so." between the boys or she won't be the "belle that she now is."

Foolish mother! To swallow all of Alice's immature reasoning. Anyone with common sense knows that a girl whose mother is fairly particular about her going and coming rates higher with well bred young men than the girl who is never checked up on.

Of course, we have to change our ideas to a certain extent in order to conform with the times. It may have been proper in 1890 call it an evening when clock struck ten but nowadays the neighbor's tongues don't start to wag until after midnight.

It used to be very indiscreet to makes the fist hand over the go to the theatre without a chaperon but if one were produced on such an occasion in the present day, our young escort would probably bolt and run.

One can discriminate between decent and dissipated young men, however. Suppose Alice does miss two or three dates a week because she is not entertaining drunks or worse. I fail to see the loss. If a girl has a date every night she has to have a strong constitution. A little rest and com-panionship with her own family will not do her any harm, I am

Health Unit Urges Vaccination

The Edmonton Rural Health Unit reported last week that five children in the Morinville and Sturgeon Municipal Districts have come down with whooping cough.

They have issued an urgent appeal to all parents to have their children immunized. This service, if paid for by the individual would cost approximately $10 per child, but the Edmonton Rural Health Unit provides this protection free of charge.

The Unit emphasized the fact that in young children whooping cough is still a very 'serious disease, and the only way of preventing it is through vaccination.

Geo. Prudham Says Get Stocked Up On Coal Supply

Federal Mines and Technical Surveys Minister George Prudham advised people to get their winter supply of coal in before it is too

The minister said in Edmonton that during the past five months the amount of coal moving to market was 30 per cent less than in the same period last year.

"This has been caused by failure on the part of many customers to fill their bins during the summer months," he said.

"In the winter, when mines will be working to capacity, and rail-way cars will be short," he added, "It will be practically impossible to overtake the obvious coming

He advised householders to secure their supplies now while they are ample.

Young Norway Rat Not Edmonton's

A young Norway Rat killed a few weeks ago in Edmonton is believed to have been a stray. Provincial authorities at first feared the rodent had been killed near a breeding place, but an investigation failed to find a nest. Officials said the rat undoubtedly arrived in Edmonton in a boxcar.
